Pokemon Hamatora

Disclaimer: I don't own Hamatora or Pokemon.

AN: I hope everyone tolerates this crap intro. :D

It was a strangely ordinary day in cafe nowhere but obviously these kind of days with the hamatora crew can't last for a long time. Before you knew it a strange man walks in. "Aren't you tired of everyone's opinions and how they despise minimum holders? Do you want to go to a world where you have creatures to fight for you?" Where your free to try and become stronger with a wonderful community? Nice quickly speaks up. "Wait slow down, you mean there's another world besides this one? And wouldn't the people their end up despising us again?"

The man quickly said. "Let me explain some things really quick before you ask any more questions. Normally that would be true however, you would lose your powers if you decide to transfer worlds. Also you must be wondering who I am. Simply put, I am a person who can travel others through space." I wanted someone of interest to join this world and your group of people sparked that light into my brain. I will return here in a week so make your decision by then." he said as he left.

"That was a weird guy" Nice stated. "to be honest I personally am interested in this new world, considering his story is true." Ratio said.

"What are your thoughts on it everyone?"

I'm not so sure we can trust him. Murasaki said suspiciously.

"what's the worst that could happen?" birthday said in a rather demonic sounding laugh.

"will there be food?" Hajime asks. "And a lot of it?"

"How are we supposed to know!?" Everyone else jokingly yells.

"A challenge to be accepted!" Three yells being unreasonably loud.

"Can people be reasonable please?" Murasaki asks.

"Good luck with that" Honey says. "people here are crazy, that's just how we operate."

"If everyone is so interested let's just go ahead and go!" Koneko says. Everyone seemed to hesitantly just agree and go with the flow.

A week has passed and the man returned and transported them away to the world of Pokemon.

Their Will be romance between Hajime/Nice and Three/Honey. just want to get into a little into the plot first. Also chapters will be longer this is just a short intro.

feel free to suggest ideas.
